

JEROME, ARIZONA

Distance: 111 miles
Travel Time: 1 hour 56 minutes
Phoenix, AZ to Jerome, AZ

Coined as the “Wickedest Town in the West”, Jerome was founded in 1876. Once the fourth largest city in Arizona with a peaking population of 15,000 in the 1920’s. Jerome has been a historic copper mining town that first started as copper mining camp and grew to a roaring mining community. Jerome has an elevation of 5,066 feet and is now a thriving tourist hub.

JEROME STATE HISTORIC PARK

The Jerome State Historic Park features the Douglas Mansion that was built in 1916 by an influential mining family of entrepreneurs. There is a museum located in the old Douglas Mansion.

GOLD KING MINE & GHOST TOWN

A funky stop featuring dilapidated buildings, an old mine and a large and vast collection of old automobiles and trucks of all styles.

JEROME'S SLIDING JAIL

Funny story about this one. This jail is not in its original building spot. Thanks to an underground blast, the ground shifted causing the jail portion of the building to slide down the mountain 200 feet away. Oops!

TUZIGOOT NATIONAL MONUMENT

A 2 to 3 story preserved pueblo ruin that lies on the summit of a limestone and sandstone ridge. A complex of stone masonry rooms with its central rooms standing higher than the others and appearing to have served for public functions. This pueblo has 110 rooms.

MINGUS MOUNTAIN

Located in the Black Hills mountain range and within the Prescott National Forest. There are views of the Verde Valley, Sycamore Canyon Wilderness and you can see the towns of Jerome, Cottonwood, and Clarkdale.

THE ORIGINAL JEROME WINERY

This rustic-chic winery features picturesque views that offers light fare and wine tastings!
